Franklin Templeton Global Sukuk Fund

Class A(acc)EUR • ISIN LU0923115892 • A sub-fund of Franklin Templeton Shariah Funds

Objectives and Investment Policy

The primary characteristic of a Shariah fund is its compliance with Shariah guidelines based on the principles of Islamic finance. A Shariah fund is required to appoint a Shariah supervisory board which independently ensures that the fund also meets such Shariah guidelines in the management of all of its assets.

Franklin Templeton Global Sukuk Fund (the "Fund") aims to maximise total investment return by achieving an increase in the value of its investments and earning income from Shariah-compliant securities over the medium to long term.

The Fund invests mainly in:

- Shariah-compliant debt securities, including Sukuk of any quality (including lower quality securities such as non-investment grade securities) and of any maturity, issued by governments, government-related entities and corporations located in developed and emerging markets
- Shariah-compliant short-term instruments (up to 40% of the Fund net assets)

The Fund can invest to a lesser extent in:

- structured products, asset-backed securities and derivatives in accordance with the Shariah guidelines
- securities in default (limited to 10% of assets)

The investment team applies an investment process which is primarily based on in-depth fundamental credit research including economic, country and security-specific analysis that incorporates detailed risk analysis, company visits, and proprietary equity and credit models. In their research efforts, the investment team located in the Middle East region also leverages Local Asset

Management research support in Malaysia and the global footprint of Franklin Templeton's Fixed Income Group.

You may request the sale of your shares on any Luxembourg business day.

Terms to Understand

Shariah-compliant debt securities: Financial securities that comply with Shariah, such as Sukuk, where the holder owns an undivided exposure over an underlying asset, or Murabaha, where a party buys an asset and agrees upon a sale price with a prospective buyer for an agreed upon profit.

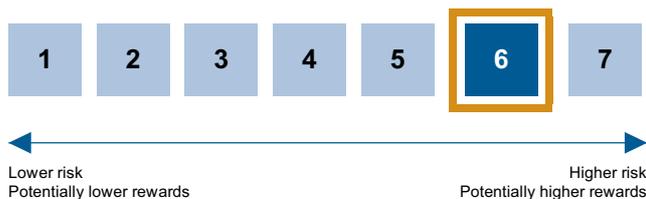

Sukuk: Islamic financial securities similar to bonds that comply with Shariah and where the holder owns an undivided exposure over an underlying asset

Short-term instruments: Shariah-compliant securities with defined terms and a short maturity where, for example, a party buys an asset and then agrees upon a sale price with a prospective buyer for an agreed upon profit.

Structured products: Packaged financial products whose value is generally linked to underlying asset(s) that are typically created to satisfy a need that cannot be met by investing solely in standard financial instruments available in the market.

Derivatives: Islamic compliant financial instruments whose characteristics and value depend on the performance of one or more underlying assets, typically securities, indexes, currencies or other financial obligations.

Risk and Reward Profile

What does this indicator mean and what are its limits?

This indicator is designed to provide you with a measure of the price movement of this share class based on historical behavior.

Historical data may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time.

The lowest category does not mean risk free.

As the share class has no sufficient historical data available, simulated data based on representative portfolio model or benchmark have been used instead.

Why is the Fund in this specific category?

The Fund invests mainly in Shariah-compliant debt securities, including Sukuk and short-term instruments of any quality issued by entities located in developed and emerging markets. Such securities have historically been subject to price movements, generally due to the supply and demand for financing, other market factors or movements in the Sukuk market. As a result, the performance of the Fund can fluctuate significantly over relatively short time periods.

Risks materially relevant not adequately captured by the indicator:

Emerging markets risk: the risk related to investing in countries that have less developed political, economic, legal and regulatory systems, and that may be impacted by political/economic instability, lack of liquidity or transparency, or safekeeping issues.

Counterparty Risk: the risk of failure of financial institutions or agents (when serving as a counterparty to financial contracts) to perform their obligations, whether due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes.

Liquidity risk: the risk that arises when adverse market conditions affect the ability to sell assets when necessary. Reduced liquidity may have a negative impact on the price of the assets.

Sukuk Risk: the risk of loss arising from investing in sukuk instruments, which may fluctuate in value due to the impact of macro-economic factors on the supply and demand for financing or the willingness or ability of the counterparty (sovereign, sovereign-related, or corporate) to make payments according to the terms of the sukuk

Shariah Compliance Risk: the risk that the restriction to invest only in Shariah-compliant securities may place the Fund at a comparative disadvantage vs. funds that do not have this restriction. Returns to shareholders may also be reduced due to payments to Shariah approved charities to "purify" dividends.

For a full description of all the risks applicable to this Fund, please refer to the section "Risk Considerations" of the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton Shariah Funds.
